SIGNED and APPROVED by me upon this 2nd day of AUGUST, 2007.

SYNOPSIS

This ordinance updates the City of Bloomington's Noise Control provisions contained in the Bloomington Municipal Code. In brief, the amendments:

- Eliminate the complicated sound pressure level limits and measurements found in the current code and introduce a "reasonable person with ordinary sensitivity" standard to provide notice to persons of what constitutes a violation;
- Consolidate all prohibited noises into just one section, as opposed to two, and craft provisions that clearly address contemporary concerns, including noise from vehicles;
- Modify existing exemptions, in part, by setting a predictable time for loud construction activities to begin each morning at 6:00 a.m. (rather than at sunrise) and adds new exemptions that cover activities, which are common, necessary or specifically allowed by law;
- Modify the special permit section, resulting in only one class of special permits issued by the Mayor or his representative, which should not significantly impact or change current practices; and
- Lastly, escalate fines from $50 for the first offense, $100 for the second offense, and $500 for the third offense committed within 12 months and direct appeals to the Board of Public Works.
